Our reader's words used to describe Rockit's burger vary from the general "it's consistent" to the highly specific "delightful." But regardless of the words you choose, Rockit seems to have "hands down the best burger in town!" But ... why? "The big, juicy burger is filled with flavor from every ingredient," one reader said. The high quality products provide "the best quality that is just plain good. The brie cheese alone makes your mouth water." If you aren't a Kobe beef fan, opt for "the lobster burger." Readers said they've "never had a better one. Often imitated but never duplicated."

"Take your standard American burger joint, give it an upscale, urban makeover, and you've got Rockit. The current hot spot for well-heeled 20- and 30-something singles, Rockit is definitely a scene after work and on weekends, with loud music and plenty of flirting at the busy front bar," one reader said. Overall, the venue has "great food, great sports, great TVs and a great Bloody Mary at their Sunday brunch." "Finding a unique, reasonably priced place with great atmosphere, non-snooty service and amazing food was one of the highlights of living in Chicago," another SCENE reader said.
